GEORGE G. DRAPER DIES SUDDENLY.

FEDERAL NARCOTIC AGENT COMES TO END AT 6:10 SATURDAY MORNING.

HAD USEFUL CAREER

George Glenn Draper, aged 38, local federal agent in charge of narcotic enforcement, and one of the best known men in the revenue service in Tennessee, died at 6:10 o'clock Saturday morning at his home, 2117 Bailey avenue, Highland Park. He was stricken with pneumonia earlier in the week. News of his demise will come as a profound shock to friends here and throughout the state. The body was removed to Wann's on Georgia avenue.

Mr. Draper had been engaged in the internal revenue service for several years. He was pure food and drug commissioner under administration of Gov. Roberts, but resigned that position to take up work in the enforcement of the narcotic laws. He was formerly in charge of this branch of the service in the entire state.

In Daring Raids

During his career as an enforcement officer he had charge of and participated in many daring spectacular raids. A few years ago a squad of agents in charge of Mr. Draper quietly investigated the narcotic situation in Chattanooga and as a result arrests were made that created a sensation through this section.

Mr. Draper's work carried him to many places and he thus became widely known. His long service was characterized by marked ability and efficiency and many important cases were worked up and handled by him.

He was esteemed by a wide circle of friends throughout Tennessee. Especially was he well-known among federal employees and civil authorities, as his work brought him in close touch with them. He had been a resident of Chattanooga for a number of years.

Surviving him are his widow, two daughters, Paula and Elsie; a son, William Gailbreath Draper; his father, Judge W. W. Draper, who is assistant attorney-general here; two brothers, R. G. of Memphis and J. T. Draper of Chattanooga, and two sisters, Miss Mary T. Draper and Miss Lucy K. Draper.

Mr. Draper was a member of Centenary M. E. church, south.

FUNERAL HELD MONDAY.

The last rites over the body of George Glenn Draper, federal narcotic enforcement agent, and a widely known official and citizens, who died Saturday at his home in Highland Park, were held in Centenary M. E. church, south, of which he was a member, at 10 o'clock Monday morning. The large company of sorrowing friends who gathered to pay homage to Mr. Draper included many prominent government and civil officials and others representing many professions. The wealth of beautiful flowers bespoke the high esteem in which he was held. Dr. W. S. Neighbors, his pastor, officiated, assisted by Father W. C. Robertson and Dr. Claude E. Hill. There were words of tribute of Mr. Draper's long efficient service with the government and a message of comfort and sympathy was brought to the bereaved ones. The body was laid to rest in the Forest Hills cemetery, with Jo Anderson, R. B. Peace, Walter Clark, George Webb, Dr. J. A. Smith and S. R. Miller serving as active pallbearers. The honorary pallbearers were Judge G. B. Murry, Charles Neighbors, G. W. Chamlee, J. T. Snodgrass,

Sid Lucas and B. K. Reynolds.

BLOW TO DEPARTMENT

George Draper Popular With Nashville Folk

Nashville, Oct. 23. — (Special.) — George Draper, narcotic inspector for the United States department of internal revenue, who died in Chattanooga Saturday morning, was well liked here by those in the government service in which he had been a worker for many years. Draper handled some of the biggest dope cases ever mastered by the government in this section of the country. His promotion in the service were rapid and his loss will prove a blow to the department because of his familiarity with the habits and doings of Nashville and also other southern cities.

The pupils in the fifth and sixth grades have to make as high as 80 in their daily grades and not fall below 65 on any subject during the week.

I certainly appreciate the co-operation or the parents in helping me to get the pupils to study at home, and I'm asking the hearty co-operation of all the parents along the line of discipline. It does but little good to drill pupils at school in discipline if they are to do as they wish at home.
